ARMY OFFICER IN THE CITY JAIL

Lieut. Frank Johnson Gets $15 from Crothersville Woman to Take Up Compensation Case.

MAN BELIEVED TO BE INSANE

Turned Over to Shelby County Officers This Morning—Wanted For Stealing Automobile.

Frank Johnson, wearing the ensigns of a second lieutenant, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Officer Charles Wallace at Crothersville, where he tried to defraud Mrs. S. Ridge, an aged widow, out of $15. Officer Wallace was called to Crothersville by citizens there who heard of the man's trick and wanted him arrested before he could make his escape.

According to the story told to the local officer by Crothersville people, Johnson arrived at Crothersville Tuesday night. He remained at the hotel over night and on Wednesday morning went to Mrs. Ridge's home to inquire about her son who was recently discharged from the army and a short time after was adjudged insane and sent to the Southeastern Hospital at Madison. It will be recalled that the Ridge boy created some disturbance when he started to board a Baltimore & Ohio train bound for Cincinnati in this city and was held by some of his friends.

Johnson told Mrs. Ridge that he was sent to see her by a major stationed at Camp Taylor to help her recover some money due her from the government as compensation on account of her son's condition. However, he informed her that it would take $30 for him to look after the case for her which she agreed to pay. She paid him $15 of the amount cash and was to pay him the other $15 when she received the compensation.

Mrs. Ridge went to the Crothersville state bank to draw the money to pay Johnson at which time bank officials learned of the deal. Knowing that it was illegal for any government employee to accept money for services of the kind Johnson offered the woman, arrangements were made to stop him from leaving Crothersville before an officer from this place could go there and arrest him.

Officer Wallace arrived at Crothersville on the car on which Johnson was intending to leave town. The army officer was placed under arrest. When taken before Mrs. Ridge for identification Johnson denied some of the things he had agreed to do for the woman. He was ordered to give back her $15 which he did. He was brought to this city and placed in jail.

Late last night a message was received at the local police station stating that Johnson was wanted in Ripley county for stealing an automobile from a resident of Sunman, Ind. The sheriff of Ripley county accompanied by a constable from Versailles, came here this morning and returned Johnson there to face a grand larceny charge.

Johnson, according to papers found in his possession, has been a patient at an insane hospital in Kentucky. He claimed to have relatives living at Shelbyville, Ky., who he had notified, that he was in trouble. Some of his relatives wired that they would come here today to look after his case. However, they failed to arrive at noon and the local officers turned Johnson over to the Versailles officers.

Johnson had no credentials to show that he was an army officer or that he had ever been discharged from the service. His mind seemed to be somewhat affected today and the local officers are inclined to believe that he is insane.

BIG DEMAND FOR SEASON TICKETS

Number of Chautauqua Tickets to be Sold for $2 for Entire Course is Limited.

SINGLE ADMISSION IS 50c

Big Canvas in Charge of Four College Men Arrives Here—Children's Hour Each Morning.

The committee of the Seymour chautauqua association that has charge of the sale of season tickets for the assembly to open here next Tuesday, is pleased with the general demand for tickets and the keen interest that is shown in the program. The season tickets will sell for $2 each until the first day of chautauqua when the price goes to $3 each. It is emphasized that under the Redpath plan of sale, the number of season tickets available at the special price of $2 is limited. The bureau reserves a part of the seating capacity of the tent under which the chautauqua will be held for single admissions and for this reason the advanced season ticket sale is limited.

The local committee desires that everyone who wishes to buy a season ticket take advantage of the special $2 price, but it is indicated that the supply of these tickets will be exhausted before Monday. The solicitors who are working under the direction of Mrs. H. V. Evans, have sold a large number of tickets already, and scores of people have stated that they desire to buy tickets for the entire course. These are to be delivered Friday or Saturday.

The committee desires to notify those who are intending to buy season tickets and have not yet procured them that the number is limited and they are urged to buy them not later than Monday noon.

The big tent for the chautauqua arrived here this morning and is in charge of four college men who will remain here through Chautauqua week. The tent came here from Bedford where a successful assembly was given.

Another feature of chautauqua week is the entertainment for children each morning. This work is under the direction of Miss Mary Smith, of the Chicago School of Expression. On the morning of the last day a pageant by the children will be given. Miss Smith is competent in children's organized play work and her programs of entertainment will be interesting to every child.

In connection with the season ticket sale it is announced that tickets will be on sale at the First National Bank, the People's Grocery and at Federmann's drug store after today. A limited number of tickets will be left at each place for the convenience of those who might fail to see the solicitors.

ALBERT HARRIS DIES AT HOME IN DETROIT

Albert Harris, a former resident of Hamilton township, died Wednesday at his home in Detroit, according to a message which was received here late yesterday. He was married a short time ago to Miss Faye Holmes, of this city. His illness was of short duration. The body will arrive here about noon Friday and the funeral and burial will take place Friday. Mr. Harris was an exemplary young man and had many friends here and in Hamilton township where he was born and reared. The acquaintances of the deceased and the young widow were grieved to hear of his death.

COUNCIL MEETS IN SPECIAL SESSION

Councilmen Decide To Take Up Telephone Fight as Soon As Company Appeals to Commission.

WILL EMPLOY ENGINEERS

Say That it is up to The Telephone Subscribers To Take Any Immediate Action.

A special session of the city council was held Wednesday evening to discuss plans to be taken by the city in preventing the increased telephone rates. All members of the council were present at the meeting.

It was pointed out that the council and city officials could take no action in the matter until the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company, makes application for the increase in rates to the public service commission. However, the council is unanimously in favor of employing the assistance of an engineer to help fight the increase.

The rate increase was extensively discussed by the councilmen and all gave their opinion that the new rates which became effective July 1 were too high. It is the desire of the city officials to guard the public's interest and the councilmen expect to exert every effort possible to see that the case is properly laid before the commission.

The city officials are ready to take steps in the matter as soon as the opportune time arrives, but as was expressed by one of the councilmen, it is now up to the fourteen hundred subscribers who are forced to pay the higher rate to take any immediate action.

Very little business other than the telephone proposition was taken up by the councilmen at the special session. The council will meet again in regular session Wednesday evening, July 16.

PLANS BEING COMPLETED FOR OPENING BALL PARK

Promoters Expect to Close Contract For Blish Lots in Northeast Part of the City.

Local promoters who are behind the movement of organizing a fast amateur ball club for Seymour expect to close up a contract this afternoon for the Blish lots in the northeast part of the city to be used as a ball park. It is understood that the owners of the land have agreed to let the baseball club use the ground.

Providing the arrangements are completed the city is promised one of the best baseball clubs in southern Indiana. The ball park will be located only one square east of the city park. As soon as the promoters are given assurance that they can get the ball ground, work will be started to erect a grand stand.

It was stated this afternoon that a game has been scheduled for Sunday with Bedford.

LANDING FIELD PROPOSED HERE

Carl G. Fisher, Indianapolis, Back of Project to Establish Long Distance Airship Route.

FOR COMMERCIAL PURPOSES

Suggested That This City Would be First Stop South of Indianapolis Enroute to Miami Fla.

Carl G. Fisher, of Indianapolis, is back of a proposition to establish a long distance air route between Indianapolis and Miami, Fla., and proposes that a landing field be arranged in this city. His communication is addressed to the Seymour Chamber of Commerce. The service would be entirely for passenger and commercial purposes.

The letter of Mr. Fisher explains the plan in detail. The communication follows:

By United Press.

London, July 10.—Herr Von Lorener of the German peace delegation officially notified Col. Henry, French liaison officer at 11 a. m. today that Germany had ratified the treaty yesterday. The superior economic council meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon was expected to take action for immediate lifting of the blockade. Von Lorener also announced the German reparations commission would arrive this evening and begin its session in Versailles tomorrow.

NOSKE AND GUARDS CONTROL BERLIN

Situation in Germany Calmer Today With Presence of Armed Patrols in Centers.

SITUATION IS UNCERTAIN

Guards Spread Over Berlin Like a Blanket With Machine Guns Placed in Alleys.

By United Press.

Berlin, July 10.—The situation in Germany is calmer today under the control of Gustav Noske, minister of defense, and his armed guards. How long this state of affairs will last none can safely predict. In some quarters it is felt that a military dictatorship under Noske will be the outcome, but the foreign office says such a development is most unlikely.

The last few days have seen the Berlin transportation system crippled but the railway strike has crumpled now. Noske has spread his guards over Berlin like a blanket. Some of the streets are barred off with barbed wire entanglements and some of the alleys are blocked with heavy trucks bearing machine guns. There is sufficient personnel to man these guns.

All the higher authorities agree that for the moment, Noske holds the fate of Berlin and Germany in the palm of his hand and that he is succeeding, at least temporarily, in keeping order at a time when there is vast unrest, much agitation for a change of government and a demand for altered economic conditions.

FORTY YEAR MARCH IS STARTED, MUELLER SAYS

German Foreign Minister Says Treaty is Ratified to Hasten Lifting of Blockade.

By United Press.

Berlin, July 10.—The national assembly at Weimar passed the resolution yesterday ratifying the peace treaty, but not until every speaker had protested against its terms. The vote on the resolution was 208 to 115.

"We are about to enter upon a forty years' march across a desert," said Hermann Mueller, foreign minister, addressing the assembly. "I cannot find another term for the path of suffering which the fulfillment of the treaty prescribes."

"We have hastened ratification in hope of raising the blockade. Unless the word of peace loses all its meaning the return of prisoners must follow soon. Unanimous protest against the oppression embodied in the treaty is maintained today and always."

Dr. Traub, of the national party, declared amid applause that "the wound of this peace will never heal, it shall not heal."

"We will never recognize its validity," asserted Herr Kahl of the people's party.

WILSON DEFENDS WORLD LEAGUE IN SPEECH TO SENATE

President Declares Rejection of The Organization of Nations Would "Break World's Heart."

WARM TRIBUTE TO SOLDIERS

Executive Declares U. S. Expects No Reparations But Works for Restoration of Right.

EUROPE WELCOMES U. S. AID

Difficulties Encountered in Grafting New Order to The Old Order of Affairs, He Says.

President Wilson told the senate that:

The treaty will be scrap of paper without the league of nations. People demanded the league and would brook no denial.

America's material aid to Europe will be indispensable in the days to come.

If the league of nations was rejected the world's heart would be broken.

America is a friend of all nations.

America has just reached her majority of a world power.

America's isolation ended twenty years ago.

America shall in truth show the way to the world.

The treaty squares with the fourteen points as well as with the practical needs of the situation.

It is not exactly the sort of treaty the United States would have written.

"We have sought no special reparations for ourselves, but only the restoration of right, and the assurance of liberty everywhere."

"America's fight made victory certain."

"A league of free nations is a practical necessity."

By United Press.

Washington, July 10.—The United States has been offered the moral leadership of the world and dare not reject it without "breaking the world's heart," President Wilson declared today to the senate in presenting the treaty of peace for ratification.

"Shall we hesitate to accept this great duty?" the president asked.

Rejection of the league of nations Wilson said, would be a rejection of the world's confidence. More than that, he declared, without the league the peace treaty becomes but a scrap of paper.

The President began his speech by outlining how American troops, to whom he paid a warm tribute as "men terrible in battle, but gentle and helpful out of it" turned the tide of the war.

Coming to the making peace Wilson reviewed in detail the many complex questions presented and the difficulties growing out of a disposition in some quarters to cling to the old order.

"It was not easy," he said, "to graft the new order of ideas on the old and some of the fruits of the grafting may, I fear, for a time be bitter."

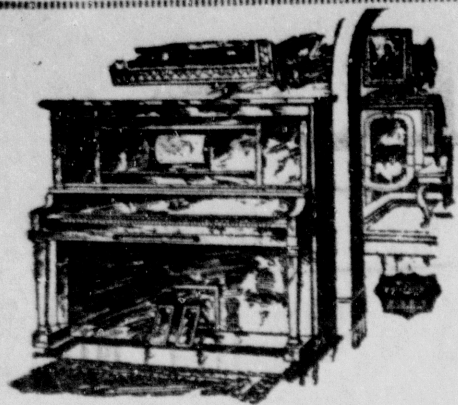

But on the whole, the President declared Europe welcomed American participation in the peace making as eagerly as it welcomed our armies and accomplished American principles of peace.

In view of all this, the President said, the question is put squarely up to the United States whether it will try to resume the old policy of isolation or will continue through the league of nations the task of maintaining "the order set up in the world—the world of civilized men."

The United States, the President said, has reached its majority as a world power. He hinted, it was believed, of acceptance of a mandatory by the United States when he said,

UGLY OBSTRUCTIONS.

The citizens of Seymour have always taken great pride in the appearance of their streets. Those in the residential sections probably have received more attention than the streets in the business part of the city. But during the last few years the movement to install a post lighting system and probably to remove obstructions from the streets in the central part of the city has grown rapidly. There is no question but that something must be done in the near future to improve the appearance of our business thoroughfares.

Without notice and at least without definite permission, the Interstate Public Service Company is placing tall, unsightly poles on East Second street. A short time ago this company was given permission by the city council to set a line of poles for its high tension line on Cincinnati and St. Louis avenues, but before the system was placed in operation the company encountered obstacles. Now to avoid further trouble the company confiscates a part of the city and places a new line of poles.

If the people of Seymour sit idly by and permit these poles to be erected in the very heart of the business section the city will for years be handicapped in installing a post lighting system. A post lighting system, no matter how attractive it might be, would lose its value if placed along with these tall poles. We are beginning now to see that it was a serious mistake to permit the light company to use the streets at all for the high tension system. It ought to have been placed outside the city as much as possible. But it is not too late to prevent the company from doing further damage to the general attractive appearance of Seymour. If Seymour is to be an attractive city during the next twenty years we must protect it now.

THE DIXIE AIRLINE

In another column appears a letter from Mr. Carl G. Fisher, of Indianapolis, relative to the proposed establishment of the Dixie Airline from Indianapolis to Miami, Fla. It is proposed that Seymour be made one of the regular stops on this route. The aircraft would be used for commercial purposes. Air service is still in its infancy, but the time is not far distant when air ships will be used in many ways for commercial activity. Seymour is given opportunity to become a landing place for the long distance craft. The proposition presents so many possibilities that the chamber of commerce and citizens in general ought to give the matter serious consideration.

From one to five thousand have heard The Little Giant's "Joy Ride To The Grave" in Jubilee Mass Meetings.

the first practical long distance airplane route for commercial and private flights in the United States.

Everybody believes that the era of commercial flying is about to be inaugurated. There are thousands of competent aviators now in the United States as the result of the government's training activities during the late war, and thousands of planes will soon be released from war requirements for commercial work. In addition, there are from six to eight companies preparing to build airplanes for pleasure and commercial flying.

The government has several plans under consideration for aiding this development, the subject is being discussed by prominent men everywhere; but mean while nothing definite is being done at a time when it is most essential.

Obviously, the one thing that is now needed to make commercial flying a success is the immediate establishment of a number of practicable flying routes, through the creation of necessary landing fields along the way. The sole barrier to flights by aviators with existing planes is this lack of landing fields. Provide landing fields and the rest of the development will follow.

What a splendid thing it would be if the following cities got together in the practical building of the first long distance airline in the United States: Indianapolis, Seymour, Louisville, Bowling Green, Nashville, con, Waveross, Jacksonville, Dayton, Ft. Pierce, Palm Beach and Miami.

Suitable landing fields at each of these points would permit travel all along the route from Chicago to Miami and between intermediate points with reasonable safety, being spaced close enough together to enable frequent stops for food and rest, gasoline and other necessary supplies, and would do more to develop the art of flying than all the discussion that is at present being devoted to the subject.

I am enclosing specifications for a landing field that has been demonstrated to be satisfactory, and invite you to co-operate in this enterprise with the enthusiasm and energy warranted by its magnitude and importance. The first long distance flying route will not only have an immediate but an historic value that you will be proud to have helped create.

A number of models of procedure are possible in obtaining landing fields, however, as a uniform method it is suggested that you lease a field for five years, with a charge of say $5.00 to each plane landing. The field need not be withdrawn from productive purposes, but could be kept in grass, clover, alfalfa or hay. Some loss would result due to landings, of course, but no matter what the cost, the upkeep should not prove a deterrent factor.

For the first two or three years the revenue from landings will not be very great, but after that it should amount to something. Provided a route is established, I know of several parties who would make flights immediately. In three years, traffic will grow to considerable proportions, and at that time it would be a good idea to put in night signals and flood lights for landing purposes, as there will probably be a good deal of night flying.

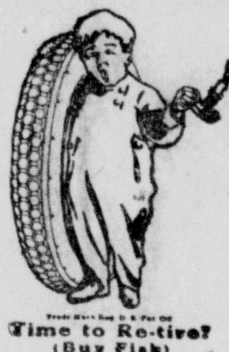

It is planned at present to issue the first complete map of the new airplane route by September 1, the name of the route to be Dixie Airline, inasmuch as it will parallel the Dixie Highway. It is almost needless to point out the advertising value that will result to your community as part of this route, as nationwide interest and attention will follow its announcement.

Kindly let me hear from you as soon as possible with regard to this matter, and put your shoulder to the wheel to make the Dixie Airline a reality in record time.

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE R-34 STARTS TRIP TO ENGLAND

Great Aircraft Circles Over Brooklyn and Broadway Before Putting Out to Sea.

By United Press

Mineola, July 10—The British dirigible R-34 which left on her returned voyage to England at midnight was about 300 miles out at 7:10, New York time, this morning. Her location indicated her speed was about fifty-five miles an hour. The decision to start last night instead of waiting until 4 o'clock this morning, as announced yesterday afternoon, was reached by Mayor Scott, commander, at 10:15 p. m. It was occasioned by receipt of an official weather bureau bulletin urging haste because of the approach of a storm. By 11 o'clock everything was in readiness. At 11:55 bells tinkled throughout the length of the craft. Then—"let's go."

The R-34's last tie to American soil was severed and she arose to a height of 800 feet. When the airship passed over Brooklyn at a height of 2,000 feet she was picked out of the darkness by several searchlights. The R-34 then turned to the left and passed over Broadway giving thousands of persons a thrill. At 1:30 the dirigible passed over Roosevelt field and put out to sea. About an hour after the R-34 disappeared from view she sent the following message: "All O. K. on board. Bound for England."

WILSON DEFENDS WORLD LEAGUE IN SPEECH TO SENATE

"weak peoples everywhere stand ready to give us any authority among them that will assure them a friendly oversight and direction."

The President announced he will later present the treaty of defense under which American aid is presented to France under unprovoked German aggression.

The President finished his message at 12:54, the reading requiring thirty-nine minutes.

It was literally an arena roped off and pressed on every side by eager throngs that President Wilson entered today to begin his dramatic fight for the league of nations. Spectators began arriving at the capital hours before Wilson was scheduled to appear.

Denied admission to the senate chamber they lined the outer entrance of the north wing of the capital braving a rain storm to see the President from his automobile into the building. Hundreds jammed the house corridors, straining to see over the heads of the crowds but unable to get beyond the husky senate guards. Narrow gates were swung shut and open only for the elect who could show proper credentials.

Congressmen flocked from the house which recessed until after the President's speech and crowded into the senate chamber. Telephones in senators' offices were jangled all morning by friends seeking special cards of admission.

Some outsiders were offering large sums to holders of the coveted pasteboards.

In appearing before the senate today the president upset another tradition. Since the nation began, all treaty discussions in the senate have been cloaked in secrecy. But today's ceremonies "proceeded in the open" as President Wilson in his fourteen points declared treaty making must henceforth always proceed.

Regarded as the first gun in a most vigorous campaign for unequivocal acceptance of the peace settlement just as it is, today's address is sure to receive the most attentive consideration of supporters and opponents of the Wilsonian peace program. Europe's eyes too, are on the senate. Most of the foreign diplomats in Washington planned to occupy the gallery set apart for them, to see and report how the senate received the words of the President.

Dont fail to hear Clinton N. Howard at the Christian church tonight.

AMBASSADOR SHEA GUEST OF ELKS AT FISH DINNER

Distinguished Seymour Man Who is on Vacation in U. S., Visits Friends Here.

Ambassador Joseph H. Shea, who came to the United States several weeks ago from Santiago, Chili, is in the city for a short stay. He came here Wednesday night with Nathan Kaufman who was in Indianapolis where Ambassador Shea has been visiting.

The distinguished local man will be the honor guest at a fish fry to be given by the Elks at the cabin west of the city this evening. The dinner for Ambassador Shea is held regularly by the local lodge of Elks when he returns here.

Ambassador Shea said that a great part of the business in Chili during the world war was with American firms and that the continuance of this business depended largely with the concerns in this country. A close feeling of friendship between Chili and the United States is manifest, he said.

WHEAT QUALITY IS SAID TO BE POOR

Farmers Hominy Company Receiving Between Three and Four Thousand Bushels Daily.

The Farmers Hominy Company has been receiving between three and four thousand bushels of wheat daily for the past few days. C. R. Jackson, manager, stated this afternoon that many complaints are heard from the farmers on account of the low quality of wheat this season. The best wheat received at the Farmers Hominy Company this season tested sixty-one and was raised on the Frank Bush farm in Hamilton township.

One of the big disappointments in the wheat crop this season is the fact that enough straw is realized to yield almost twice as much grain. The amount of wheat brought to the elevators ran short today on account of the heavy rain last night which held up threshing.

MOTORCYCLE STOLEN AT JONESVILLE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Thief Takes Machine From Barn and Rides It Off in a Downpour of Rain.

The local police have been asked to be on the look-out for a motorcycle which was stolen at Jonesville Wednesday night. The machine was owned by M. C. Hiale, who resides two miles north of Jonesville.

According to the information received by the police, the owner had ridden the motorcycle to Jonesville while there he was caught in a heavy rain and ran the machine in a barn to protect it from the weather. The thief was also sheltering in the barn and while the rain continued its downpour he rode it off. The owner has been unable to get any trace of his machine. The motorcycle was an Excelsior make and was painted gray.

The Training of a Father

BY DR. DAVID STARR JORDAN,
Chancellor, Leland Stanford Junior University.

NOTE:—Prepared for the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, by the National Kindergarten Association. This is No. 6 of the second series of articles. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

Note:—Dr. Jordan writes in this article about much older children than this series is concerned with, but he gives such helpful advice that we feel it should be included.

Fathers are quite as hard to train as boys, and from experience all along the line, I have come to the conclusion that fathers and boys alike will mostly go their own way, in the long run getting "what is coming to them."

But it is in the power of the father to help a boy to realize his best instead of his worst tendencies and possibilities. To this end, a father should be sympathetic and patient, helping the development of whatever natural taste or genius a boy may have. Virtue is never negative and a boy is held from idleness or vice by giving him something better to work at. If a boy has a real love for some study or for some worthy line of work, encourage that. It marks the way out from temptation. A boy needs in his development sympathy rather than financial help. His ideals need strengthening, not his purse. To have money to burn will ruin all those who burn it. It is hard to raise a boy who is rich and knows that whatever he wants is his for the asking. He is likely to be content with what money can buy, and it cannot buy very much that is worth having. It can help in many things, but a mere aid is not the thing itself.

The father can promote the plain virtues of sobriety, honesty, tolerance, and kindness. The most effective way of teaching these virtues is for him to illustrate them in himself—to show how righteousness looks when it is lived. Occasionally a father successfully proves his point by becoming the awful example. But that is not the best way, and right living is a positive thing. It is not secured by inhibitions. "Don't, don't, don't" never leads to anything worth while. Don't say to boys: "Keep off the grass. Keep out of the dirt. Keep away from the slums." Rather indicate places it is better to go to: "this way to citizenship; this way to science, to art, to a worthy profession."

It is worth while to remember that the boy is the germ of what the man is to be. You cannot change his nature much, but you can develop the best in him till it overshadows the worst. The life of a man at forty will be what was in his heart at twenty-one.

And a father may say to his boys something like this, which in one way or another I have said to thousands of boys in this and other countries: "Your first duty in life is toward your afterlife. So live that your afterlife—the man you ought to be—may in his time be possible and actual."

"Far away in the years he is waiting his turn. His body, his brain, his soul, are in your boyish hands. He cannot help himself."

"What will you leave for him?" "Will it be a body unspoiled by lust or dissipation; a mind trained to think and act; a nervous system true as a dial in its response to the truth about you. Will you, Boy, let him come as a man among men in his time?"

"Or will you throw away his inheritance before he has had the chance to touch it? Will you turn over to him a brain distorted, a mind diseased; a will untrained to action; a spinal cord grown through and through with the devil grass we call wild oats?"

"Will you let him come, taking experience, happy in your friendships, hallowed through your joys, building on them his own?"

When you wish a rich, dark meat color for soup, use caramel, which is sugar browned in a frying pan until a golden brown, and then dissolved in a little water.

Hand Work on Summer Gowns.

Handwork is, apparently, judging from what one sees in the smart shops, to be quite a feature of the gowns which women and girls, big and little, will wear this summer. And much of the adornment which has appeared so far might be achieved by almost any woman, with even a slight taste for needlework; for, instead of the elaborate solid embroidery that was so popular a few years ago and which demanded considerable skill from the embroiderer, that which is favored today is on a much simpler order. Cross-stitch, for example, bids fair to be well liked, and so does a plain variety of decoration, consisting of a series of rather long—from a half inch to an inch—stitches in colored thread or silk. Color plays a large part in the decorative scheme of the clothes of today. A costume of white may be adorned with fancy stitches, in any chosen color or in as many colors as the owner may desire. A costume of a colored fabric may be similarly stitched in contrasting shades.

Buttonholing edges with rather deep stitches is one of the most popular ways of finishing off collars and cuffs, sashes and belts and even the lower edge of smocks. Many of the new smocks, now being shown, are made of natural colored linen, rather coarse, and buttonholed about with cerise, Chinese blue, scarlet or bright yellow, sometimes with brown. Some of the most cheerful ones have different colors used for this work, in sections. These same shades are incorporated in other adornment of the smocks, which frequently takes the form of the embroidery in cross-stitch of various conventional designs, all of them simple, however.

One effective border design which may be adopted when one does not care for the buttonholing nor yet for the long running stitch by which many hems are now being finished, consists simply of three half-inch or three-quarter inch stitches, taken across the hem—of equal width—horizontally, and then three more stitches of the same size, taken vertically, and this most extremely simple design repeated along all the hems. The horizontal stitches may be of one color and the vertical ones of another contrasting or harmonizing shade, or there may be combinations even in the sets of three stitches. There seems to be endless opportunities for originality. A woman may decorate her smock as she chooses and, providing that her colors harmonize and it is not over-decorated she may feel that her garment is quite in style.

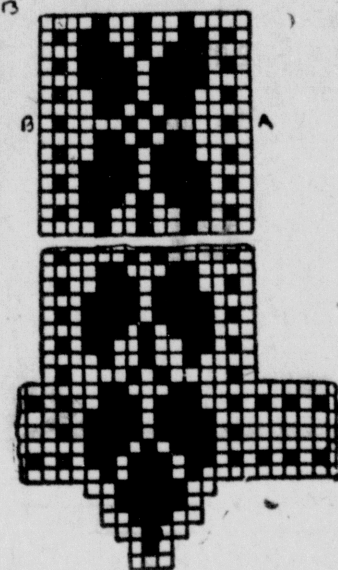

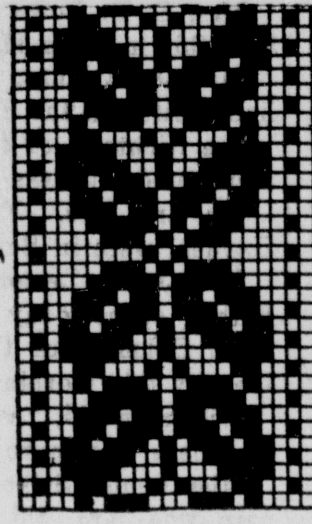

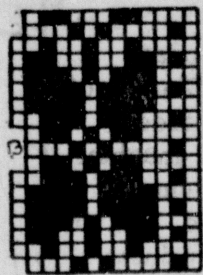

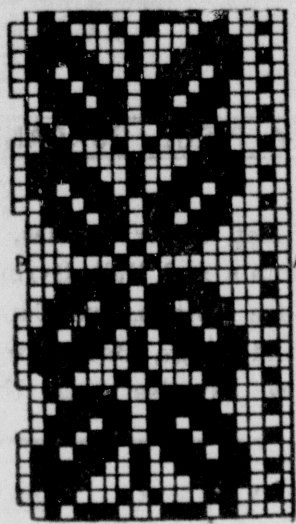

Purple and lavender are among the popular colors used lavishly in the season's embroidery and, not infrequently, they are combined with scarlet or pink and also certain soft shades of yellow. These colors show off almost equally well on the natural colored linen and on the plain white.

One interesting looking gown, offered for Palm Beach wear these winter days, or for spring or summer in more northern countries, which was shown recently, was made of medium weight white linen, in the popular smock fashion. The skirt was straight and fairly full. The smock, which resembled a Russian blouse, was cut rather long and embroidered chiefly in bright brick red and a rather darkish blue. A border was formed all around the lower edge of the smock of squares measuring about four inches, and put together with two rows of three-quarter inch rather coarse insertion. These squares of colored linen had a simple design in cross-stitch, worked upon them in several harmonizing colors. The collar, sleeves, cuffs and belt were all embroidered in similar cross-stitched designs.

Smocking, too, is as popular as ever and several colors may be combined in one garment, if one so elects, and in a new variety of stitches. One style, offered for this season, which looks as though it might prove a favorite, provides for the usual smock of some white or colored cotton fabric and is attractively trimmed with a light weight cretonne or other printed material. A good design for such use would be one of the striped or checked nosegays or baskets of flowers sprinkled over it. Then, the smocking at yoke and sleeves might be carried out in the predominating colors of the cretonne. The printed fabric might well be used for a band around the lower edge of the smock, also for belt, cuffs and pocket flaps.

Then, there is the embroidery in yarn of many colors which still per-

The scarf matches the bedspread given in a recent issue. It has here two edges of lace with one central strip of insertion. The edges are finished with a single crochet and picot edge. A B indicates the center of the scarf.

OLD ENGLISH INITIALS.

The Old English initials are completed in this issue. From these the most attractive monograms can be formed as well as used singly.

sists in holding its place in popular taste. That is gorgeous, indeed, and many of the old-fashioned flowers of grandmother's garden are reproduced again in gay wool on cotton frocks. Mercerized cottons, however, prove more satisfactory to many women who adorn their own frocks.

Hemstitching is a style of decoration that seems always to be in high favor. And now, with the increasing popularity of tub frocks of gingham, collars and cuffs of sheer white lawn or organdie, simply hemstitched, are much in evidence. What might be called smock frocks, because they consist of a plain skirt and a belted smock, of white or colored voile, may also be adorned with a row, or rows, of hemstitching on cuffs, collar, and even around the lower edge of the smock. Where hemstitching is not feasible, faggoting may be substituted for it quite effectively at times. One young woman, who has worked out for herself a smock costume planned to copy it in that soft washable white China silk for this summer. She plans to have a deep hemstitched hem on the straight white skirt, and then to hemstitch the smock all around the lower edge and to hemstitch also the cuffs, sailor collar, the tie that goes with it and the ends of the narrow sash belt. That, she believes, will make a charming costume, with no other decoration save the pearl or crystal buttons which are to be used for fastening the gown.

Then, of course, there is beading. With a good pattern, such as may be bought in any fancy-work store or art handwork section of a department store, almost any woman who knows anything about the use of a needle may add effective touches of bead trimming to her gowns. She may see exhibited gowns of dark or light silks, adorned with elaborate designs in beads of many colors; then there are thin gowns of Georgette crepe, with quantities of beads in conventional patterns scattered over them, and there are, too, for more ordinary wear, dainty frocks of cotton voile with bandings or wandering conventional designs outlined in beads upon them, often in white beads on soft pink or blue or lavender fabrics. These are the frocks that the woman at home, with a little skill in the use of transfer patterns and her needle, may make for herself with ease. And then, if she likes, she may make for herself the prettiest sort of a scarf of tulle or chiffon or anything of that sort, outlining a graceful design in crystal or color beads.

PICKLED MUSHROOMS.

Young button mushrooms only should be used. Cut off the stalks from a quart of mushrooms, cleansing the skin with a piece of new white flannel dipped in salt. Place them in a deep stewpan and sprinkle over them two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half ounce of whole white pepper and two blades of crushed mace. Shake them over a bright fire until the natural liquor has been drawn out and has dried up again. Then pour over them as much cold vinegar as will cover them; let it come to the boil, for one minute and no more. Pour them into a clean dry jar and seal.

TO PREPARE CUCUMBERS.

The bitter taste, found in cucumbers, may be removed more quickly than by the usual soaking process if this method is used: After each is peeled, one of the tough ends should be cut off and then replaced in its original position. Holding the body of the cucumber in the left hand and the stub in the right, rub the end round and round briskly for a few moments until a generous amount of white substance has been drawn to the cut portion of the cucumber. This secretion contains the bitter acid, and, when washed off, leaves the cucumber ready for immediate use.

STUFFED CABBAGE.

Nice large cabbage leaves are boiled a few minutes to make them soft. Then in the center of each one is placed a large spoonful of the following: One pound of hamburger, one egg (well beaten), one cupful of uncooked rice, one-half onion (chopped), one tablespoonful of salt and some pepper. Roll the leaves up and boil them one hour. When about half done pour over them one can of tomatoes.

PICKLED RED CABBAGE.

Slice the cabbage finely and place it in a colander; sprinkle each layer with coarse salt. Let the strips drain for two days, then put in a jar and cover with boiling vinegar. If a spice is used, it must be put in with the vinegar in the proportion of one ounce of whole black pepper and one-half ounce of allspice to the quart.

BOILED BEETROOTS.

Well wash some young beetroots, being careful not to break the skin. Put them into fast boiling water and boil for one hour. Take them out carefully, peel quickly and cut them into thin slices. Melt a small piece of clarified dripping (or butter) in a saucepan, and place the sliced beetroot in. Shake it over a gentle fire till quite hot, and serve in a hot dish.

FRICASSEED CABBAGE.

Boil cabbage tender in two waters, drain and then chop fine and keep hot while you cook together in a saucepan a tablespoonful of butter and one (heaping) of flour; when they bubble pour upon them a cupful of hot milk. Stir to a smooth sauce; turn into this the chopped cabbage, cook for a minute, season and serve.

BAKED HAM.

Soak a ham over night. In the morning put in a kettle one onion, one carrot, six cloves, six peppercorns, one bay leaf and water to cover. Simmer for two hours. When tender remove the skin, place on a rack in a baking pan and bake two or three hours, basting with cider and a cupful of water from the ham liquor. When done stir in a tablespoonful of brown sugar into the cider sauce and cover the ham and brown. Serve hot with the liquor from the pan poured around it, or served in a gravy boat.

String beans are delicious cooked for several hours with a piece of sweet, firm salt pork. They are good cooked with olive oil or with bacon. Season them sometimes with cheese or chopped parsley or chives.

SPICED APPLES.

The early green apples make delicious spiced apples to use throughout the year. Prepare a moderately sweet sirup with a few cloves and twice as much cinnamon. Wash, but do not peel the apples, as green apple skin cooks well and adds to the flavor. Drop in the sliced apples a few at a time and cook until tender. When all are cooked let the sirup cook down until quite thick and pour over them. Seal in small glasses or jars.

Ratification The Leading Subject Among Suffragists.

Nine States have already ratified the Federal Amendment, and not one state has refused to ratify it. Massachusetts, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Ohio, Texas, New York and Kansas have already "gone over the top". Special sessions of Legislatures have been called for Wyoming, Missouri and Indiana. Iowa, Louisiana, New Jersey and Maine will have extra sessions for other matters, during the coming year, when the suffrage amendment will be called up for ratification. It would be a splendid vindication for the patience, work and worth of women if this amendment should be ratified by the legislature of every state in the Union.

Miss Betsey Edwards, of Shelbyville, Indiana, a Vice-President of the Indiana Franchise League, and a National Organizer for the Republican Party, was in Massachusetts and appeared before the Committee on ratification of the Federal Amendment, and used her political acumen gained in the legislature, with telling effect on the Massachusetts legislature, as shown in the result of the ratification vote.

THE "BLUES"

Caused by Acid-Stomach

Millions of people who worry, are despondent, have spells of mental depression, feel blue and are often melancholy, believe that these conditions are due to outside influences over which they have little or no control. Nearly always, however, they can be traced to an internal source—acid-stomach. No one is to be wondered at. Acid-stomach, beginning with such well defined symptoms as indigestion, belching, heartburn, bloating, etc., will, if not checked, in time affect to some degree or other all the vital organs. The nervous system becomes deranged. Digestion suffers. The blood is impoverished. Health and strength are undermined. The victim of acid-stomach, although he may not know the cause of his ailments, feels his hope, courage, ambition and energy slipping. And truly life is dark—not worth much to the man or woman who has acid-stomach!

Get rid of it! Don't let acid-stomach hold you back, wreck your health, make your days miserable, make you a victim of the "blues" and gloomy thoughts! There is a marvelous modern remedy called EATONIC that brings, oh! such quick relief from your stomach miseries—sets your stomach to rights—makes it strong, cool, sweet and comfortable. Helps you get back your strength, vigor, vitality, enthusiasm and good cheer. ## CHAPTER V.

Better Than Duck.

Charlie Webster's discovery—if discovery it was—of "Jack Harkaway's" true sex seemed so far plausible in that it accounted not only for much that had seemed mysterious about him and his manner, but also (though this I did not mention to Charlie) it accounted for certain dim feelings of my own, of which, before, I had been scarcely conscious.

But we were not long left to continue our speculations, being presently interrupted by the arrival of exciting news in the form of a note from Father Serapion.

Father Serapion's note simply confirmed his conjecture that it was Tobias who had bought rum at Behring's Point and that he was probably somewhere in the network of creeks and marl lagoons in our neighborhood. Charlie thought the news over.

"I'll tell you what we'll do," he said presently. "I'm going to leave you here—and I'm going to charter the sponger out there. Turner's sound has two outlets; this and Goose river, ten miles down the shore. Now, if Tobias is inside here he can only get out either down here or down Goose river. I am going down in the sponger to the mouth of Goose river, to keep watch there, and you must stay where you are and keep watch here. Between the two of us a week will starve him out."

So it was settled, and presently Charlie went along with two of his best guns and Sallor, in the rowboat, and I saw him no more for a week. At the end of the week the wind was blowing strong from the west and the tides ran high. About noon we caught sight of triumphant sails making up the river. It was Charlie back again.

"Got him!" was all he said, as he rowed ashore.

Sallor was with him in the rowboat, but I noticed that he was limping, going on three legs.

"Yes!" said Charlie. "It's lucky for Tobias he only got Sallor's foot, or, by the living God I'd have stood my trial for manslaughter, or whatever they call it. It'll soon be all right, old man," he said, taking Sallor's wounded paw in his hand, "soon be all right." Sallor wagged his tail vigorously, to show that a gunshot through one of his legs was a mere nothing.

"Yes!" said Charlie, as we sat at lunch in the shack, under the tamarind tree; "we've got him safe there under decks all right; chained up like a buoy. If he can get away, I'll believe in the devil."

"Won't you tell me about it?" I asked.

"Not much to tell; too easy altogether. I waited a couple of days at the mouth of Goose river. Then I got tired and left the sponger with the captain and two or three men, while I went up the river with a couple of guns and Sallor, and a man to pole the skiff—just for some duck-shooting, you know. We lay low for two days on the marshes and then Sallor got sniffing the wind one morning, as if there was something around he didn't care much for. He grew more and more excited and, at last, as we neared a certain mangrove cove to which all the time he had been pointing, he barked two or three times and I let him go. Poor old fellow!"

As he told the story, Sallor, who seemed to understand every word, rubbed his head against his master's hand.

"He went into the mangroves, just as he'd go after duck, but he'd hardly gone in when there were two shots and he came out limping, making for me. But by this I was close up to the mangroves myself, and in another minute I was inside; and there was Tobias—his gun at his shoulder. He had a pot at me, but before he could try another I knocked him down with my fire and—Well, we've got him all right. And now you can go after your treasure as soon as you like. I'll take him over to Nassau and you can fool around for the next month or so. Of course we'll need you at the trial, but that won't come off for a couple of months. Meanwhile, you can let me know where you are, in case I should need to get hold of you."

"All right, old man," I said, "but I wish you were coming along with me."

"I've got all the treasure I want," laughed Charlie. "Send me word where you are, as soon as you get a chance; and good luck to you, old chap, and your doubloons and pieces of eight!"

Then he walked down to his rowboat and soon he was aboard the sponger. Her sails ran up and they were off down stream—poor Tobias, manacled, somewhere between decks.

"See you in Nassau!" I shouted. "Right-o!"

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

It has been said that there is now hardly a city, town or village in this country wherein some woman does not reside who has found health in that good, old-fashioned remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Therefore, if you are suffering from some ailment, and hardly know what to do for it, and have tried other remedies without help, ask your neighbor if she has ever used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If she herself has never had the need for it, undoubtedly she knows others who were just in your condition and who have been restored to health by its use.

Mrs. George Bender returned Wednesday evening from Evansville, where she accompanied her daughter, Miss Lucille, who is visiting relatives in Evansville.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork. By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardliness, are due in a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

If you've the slightest cause to suspect that your eyes need attention you should mark that down as the most important thing you have to do.

Now what is the first thing you must do,—just get a pair of glasses from a fellow that advertises free examinations? We say No, you are better off if you don't wear any, as improperly fitted glasses always lead to more serious trouble later.

We use the most modern instruments to measure all errors of vision so that when you entrust us with the responsibility of correcting your eye defects, you need have no doubts whatever about the results.

Farmers declare that the indications are that the potato crop will be short this year. However, the rain, will be beneficial and may result in a much larger crop. Blackberries were showing the effect of the dry weather and rain will also mean a larger crop of late berries.
